

WOODWARD'S "Coronation Coach," complete with liveried attendants, drew rounds of applause from the 150,000 enthusiastic onlookers who lined the route of the Edmonton Exhibition parade. The coach built by Woodward's display staff, varies only slightly from the true dimensions of the resplendent state coach in which Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip rode during the Queen's recent coronation. To give as complete a resemblance to reality as possible, the coach contained mannequins in the likenesses of the Queen and Prince Philip. This exceptional piece of craftsmanship was for Woodward's the Henry Birk's and Sons (Western) Ltd. award for the best entry in the parade, marking the third consecutive time this firm has received the trophy. Manager of Woodward's Stores (Edmonton) Limited, is Mr. T. K. Campbell, while their Advertising Manager is Mr. G. Plowman.

Hail Damage Heavier Than First Believed

Claims for hail damage to crops started flooding into the Calgary office of the Alberta Hail Insurance Board Thursday following the violent thunderstorm Tuesday evening in the east-central and north-eastern areas of Alberta.

By the first mail 322 claims were received for the destruction of 100,000 acres of growing crops on 410 square miles.

The later reports showed that earlier estimates of the terrific havoc waged by the 30-minute storm were too conservative.

In a narrow belt running north-east all the way from Acme across the Red Deer River to Frog Lake, nearly all growing crops were levelled and wiped out.

Heaviest damage occurred between Innisfree and Vermilion due east of Edmonton. Reports from that district were expanded by a later report from Minburn between the two, stating that from 50,000 to 70,000 acres were hit in an area of 10 by 24 miles.

In addition, a further storm released its fury Tuesday evening at 6 p.m. on Acadia Valley, due east of Calgary near the Saskatchewan border. Within a narrow belt one mile in width and 20 miles long there were 6,000 acres where hail damage varied from 20 to 75 per cent.

With most of the crops in Alberta starting to head, heavy damage by hail now means loss of the crop. Glen Elder, Insurance Board manager, said that after July 20 most claims for insurance are paid without deferment.

The big rush of claims into the Calgary headquarters was expected to be only the beginning of many others to arrive later.

CROSSFIELD RESIDENT HONORED; MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED ATTEND

CROSSFIELD—When the count was made of those who gathered together to honor Mr. Lee Ableman on Sunday week, it was found that around 110 were present. One of the amusing contributions to the program was a parody on the life and habits of Lee, which was sung to the tune of "Too Old To Cut The Mustard Anymore". Jim and Lillyard Ruddy, and the Sauter family gave several musical selections.

Beside the huge fried chicken picnic lunch, a later lunch was served to those who did not have chores to take them away. The very lovely birthday cake was baked by Mr. Ableman's daughter, Mrs. Doug Robinson and decorated by Mrs. Hugo Ballam. The top was centered with a small glass of "Pansies For Thoughts", and a closer survey of the lower stories depicted the sporting activities of the honored guest who was one of Crossfield's finest baseball catchers of earlier days, so a catcher's glove was not remiss. His fine driving team of yesterday were replicas in miniature, while a curling broom and rocks were significant of his latest conquest in sports. Mr. Frank Laut, old time friend of the family brought back old times when he reminisced in a little presentation speech, to which Lee very suitably responded.

Mrs. Lillian, Mrs. Audrey Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McCool all from Calgary, were pleased to attend, also Mr. Clyde Brown, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hehr and Miss Doreen Youngster, Markerville.

Hail Hits District Hard

CROSSFIELD—On Friday last, the weather man held a very severe grudge against a good many Crossfielders. The storm was wide and broke windows, destroyed some crops absolutely, while others were hit 30 and 40 per cent. Among those who suffered total destruction were Blisses, Garwoods, Fenwick, Lowes, Landymore, from the west of town. From the east, Keith Cochran, Teddy Bills, Eugene Wickersson, Albert Elhart, Ian and Frank Laut suffered some damage, as did Monte Wigle and a few others in that district. Closer to Crossfield, W. Aldred suffered and Mrs. Vera Aldred, W. Landymore, Dunsmores and W. Lilley, all received a share of the storm.

NO BURNING VOTE ISSUE ABBOTT TELLS ALBERTANS

WETASKIWIN—Finance Minister Abbott said Wednesday that Canadian currency is one of the strongest in the world because of "good people, geography and good government."

Mr. Abbott, making what he called his first "purely political" address in Alberta, spoke to about 50 persons in this town 40 miles south of Edmonton on behalf of Clinton Reed, Liberal candidate for Wetaskiwin riding in the Aug. 10 federal election.

He flew from Vancouver to Edmonton in the afternoon after touring the Coast, and addressed a public meeting Wednesday night at Lacombe, 80 miles south of Edmonton.

"There isn't any burning issue in the election campaign," he said. "The real issue is: Do the people want a Liberal government headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent, or do they want a Progressive Conservative government headed by George Drew?"

Mixed Cargo

Four hundred and fifty Australian animals dominated by a dozen grumpy wombats and six balky dromedaries reached New York yesterday aboard a freighter and caused considerable stir when they were unloaded. Although Australian Consul General Lieut.-Gen. E. K. Smart was on hand to meet the $50,000 shipment the dromedaries refused to budge from their stalls until wooed by tidbits. The wombats sulked and grumbled as the Consul Gen. remarked, "They don't play any part in the national life of Australia. They don't even vote." The shipment also included giant red kangaroos, wallabys, kooka-burra lizards, black swans, pled geese, dingos, and what not.

The Progressive Conservative party didn't stand a chance of forming a government on its own. But there was the possibility that it could form a coalition with Social Credit members from British Columbia and Alberta.

"It is important the people consider the alternatives," said Mr. Abbott. "They should look at the Liberal record and then at the promises of other parties, and ask if those promises can be fulfilled."

Package Tours

The creation of a new department of tours by the CNR to plan holiday travel for individuals and groups is announced by O. A. Trudeau, General Passenger Traffic Manager. Package tours are in the course of organization and soon will be available to the general public. They will range from weekend to months or longer trips from principal cities across Canada and in the U.S. The all-expense tours will include transportation, meal, hotel, sightseeing and incidental costs. They may be arranged at any CNR ticket office and through travel agents.

"The new plan has two aims," says Mr. Trudeau. "It will encourage Canadians to get to know their country better, and interest more persons from the US to visit Canada. The all-inclusive itineraries will eliminate uncertainties and laborious planning by travelers. It is a new approach in Canada to problems associated with holiday travel. The tours will be set up to suit various budgets and time factors. They will embrace national holiday periods, annual vacations and seasonal attractions in summer, fall and winter. Special plans will be available to groups of employees in plants and businesses which close down for stated vacation periods."

NEW YORK—An official of the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau recently stated that more than 20,000 children a year are born in the United States as a result of artificial insemination.

FIRST OF ITS KIND IN CANADA is this new wheel truing machine now in operation at the new $1,000,000 diesel plant being completed by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Nelson, B.C. The unit, shown in operation here, permits diesel locomotive wheels to be machined without removing either the wheels or trucks from under the locomotive, and will be used in the servicing of diesel locomotives operating on the Kootenay-Kettle Valley divisions of the C.P.R. in southern British Columbia. Its purpose is to restore by means of specially designed milling cutters the normal contour of the tread and flange of wheels worn by operation of locomotives over frequent, tight curves on the right-of-way through mountainous territory.—Canadian Pacific Railway Photo.

PRIME MINISTER PLEDGES LIBERALS BACKING OF ALL-CANADA GAS LINE

EDMONTON—At a Liberal rally in Edmonton, July 13th, Prime Minister St. Laurent pledged the Liberal government to back development of an all-Canadian pipe line to give Eastern Canadian centres the benefit of Alberta's cheap natural gas.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke on the pipe line policy as he continued his main argument for gaining Western votes: mainly that Western Canada should vote Liberal because it is the only party with country-wide support sufficient to provide strong stable government to speed the economic development of Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent said no one expects Alberta to agree to send gas out of the province until the province is assured of sufficient reserves for present and future requirements.

Alberta's government having stated there were sufficient reserves to justify export, Mr. St. Laurent said it is and will continue to be the policy of the Liberal government to give Canadian centres first chance at the supplies with one exception.

British Columbia needs Alberta supplies, and the only practical way of getting gas to the coast was via pipe line through the American Pacific Northwest. The U.S. federal power commission was considering an application by a Canadian company, West Coast Transmission Ltd. for export into the American market, and the Prime Minister anticipated a "favorable decision will be announced very soon."

On the rest of Alberta's exports the Liberal government's policy was quite clear.

We support fully the proposal that this surplus should go to Central and Eastern Canada and it is our policy to see to it that this surplus should go to Central and Eastern Canada by means of an All-Canadian pipe line.

Speaking earlier at Red Deer the Prime Minister singled out Solon Low, Social Credit leader, as the man who had accused two presidents of the U.S. Harry S. Truman and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt as the "betrayers of humanity."

Mr. St. Laurent said he was "horrified" to hear of Mr. Low making these statements. If the American leaders were "betrayers" so too were Canadian leaders for Canada helped build the strength of the free countries.

Referring to the SC member for Acadia, Victor Quelch, he said Mr. Quelch was in the "wrong camp," for he was certain the Acadia member did not believe in the Social Credit "debt-free" policies, or that party's criticism of the UN and the North Atlantic treaty.

He warned that Social Credit "debt-free" money plans won't pay Canada's debts and the Social Credit attack on world trade won't help Canada pay for the goods she must import to maintain her standard of living.

One day when the grade nines were taking up community economics, the teacher gave three of us girls an assignment. The assignment was to draw a plan of the dining-living room. I happened to draw a dining-living room with walls to separate each room which was disagreed to by the teacher. He said to make it all in one room. So I said, "So you want a separation, huh!" Much to my embarrassment all the class started to laugh at me.

Builders Seek Cheap Cement

EDMONTON — Roadbuilders in Alberta are experimenting with soil cement to find a cheaper, more efficient method of building highways that will stand up under heavy traffic.

Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said that asphalt and sand will be used as the base course over two miles of road, instead of the present asphalt and gravel base. Two miles will have a base mixture of soil and Portland cement.

EDITORIALS

Two Remaining Issues

In the last week of the 1953 Federal Election Campaign there remain but two issues for the consideration of Alberta voters.

The first issue is of national magnitude. It is: "Will the Canadian people return the St. Laurent government to office with an over-all majority, able to continue sound, stable, progressive government?"

There is an alternative to this outcome at the polls on August 10th. Enough candidates of other parties could be elected to have more seats in the aggregate than the Liberals. That would make for unstable government, such as exists in France where no party has been able to get a complete majority over all other parties for many years.

Strangely enough, this sorry spectacle is one advocated by our Alberta Premier, Hon. E. C. Manning. It is not good advice to the electors of this province, or for Canada, and it is not a condition Mr. Manning would like to be faced with in the Alberta legislature.

The second issue is a local consideration for each Alberta constituency. It is this: "Should we send as our representative to Ottawa a member of the Liberal Government, able to take active and constructive part in the formulation of Government policy, or should we send an opposition party member?" It is better for the people of this constituency to be represented in Parliament by a member supporting the Government, and the only party that can possibly form a government after August 10th is the Liberal party.

We are in favour of sound, stable government and believe that by its record and achievements, as well as by its future prospects, the Liberal government of Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent is worthy of the support of every voter.

Get Out — and Vote!

This is the last week of radio broadcasts, party speechmaking and publication of newspaper and pamphlet advertising on behalf of this candidate and that in the current Federal election campaign.

The party workers, radio, press and candidates have done their best to present their issues of this election campaign to the people who are to make the decision. Now it is up to the individual man and woman to make a solemn promise to be at the polling booth in plenty of time on Monday, August 10th.

We live in a wonderful country. We are the second most prosperous nation on the face of the earth. We have a measure of freedom unparalleled by any other country. We have a right and an obligation to take a hand in shaping the future course of our country.

Let's all get out and vote on Monday next.

Japanese and Canadian Agriculture

It is good sometimes to compare the bountiful things we have available in our own country with those possessed by others.

Japan, for instance, has just issued a handbook describing her agricultural resources. Japan, it appears, with eighty million people has only fifteen million acres of cultivated land, or .18 of one acre per person. The average size farm is two acres only. Very few farms are as large as seven acres. Compare this with Canada where fifteen million people have eighty-two million acres of cultivated land, an average of 5½ acres per person. The average Canadian farm has 132 acres of cultivated land. The Japanese have very little grazing land and so very little livestock, but they have the greatest catch of fish in the world—four and one-half times greater than any other nation. Their fish supplies them with the protein and vitamins that we obtain from livestock, poultry and dairy products. Japan has to import vast quantities of rice, wheat and barley to feed her people even on a most modest diet, so she has to try hard to sell her manufactured goods on the markets of the world to obtain foreign exchange with which to pay for imported foods. Japan purchases wheat and barley from Canada.

Suez Danger Zone

Observers of world affairs have often expressed the view that costly and aggravating as the Korean War is, it stands to be only a side-show affair compared to the potential war threat in the Near and Middle East.

For generations the British have controlled the Suez Canal zone but revolution in Egypt has awakened a new national spirit that may well grow and strengthen enough to start a war calculated to take over control of the Suez Canal.

Not only the British countries would disapprove of this eventuality. All countries hold dear the Freedom of the Seas and any threat to free passage of the world's shipping through the Suez Canal would be treated with grave concern.

General Naguib who has dethroned the Royal Family of Egypt and banished them has the key to the situation, but like the silent sphinx and the age-old Pyramids he isn't talking. He's a man of action, though, and any day might see an eruption in the Suez Canal region that will be a greater threat to world peace than has been the fighting in Korea.

1953 Election To Cost $7,000,000

According to a report released by the Canadian Press in Ottawa, it's going to cost a record amount to run the August 10 election and the current campaign perhaps around $7,000,000.

Of this, some $5,500,000 will come out of the public treasury. The political parties and their supporters will spend $1,500,000 more.

By far the biggest amount will be the official cost of the election and the preliminary work, which will be up from the $4,250,000 figure of the 1949 voting. This is because there are additional constituencies and unit charges for almost every kind of electoral work are up.

On the political side, party spending is hard to pin down, but rough and unauthoritative guesses are that the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives will spend around $600,000 apiece or more—the Liberals quite a bit more—and the CCF between $200,000 and $250,000. The Canadian Congress of Labor probably will throw about $20,000 into the CCF pot. The Social Credit group will spend a relatively modest sum, amount unknown.

Spokesmen for all groups say it is impossible to determine now how much each will spend. Apart from national budgets—in some cases the smallest part of the spending—there are expenditures by provincial and local organizations and by the individual candidates.

Aside from the political spending, costs are up all along the line in the normal government job of running an election. The expense of enumerating each elector is up, and the number of electors also is higher to an expected record of some 8,500,000.

It costs more—$12 as against $9 in the last election—to hire a deputy returning officer for the day. There are 50,000 of these.

The rental for about 50,000 polling stations at $32 per station—including the cost of space and other fees—will be up about $400,000.

An additional expenditure not counted up in the 1953 election cost is that of the office of the chief electoral officer, Nelson Castonguay, which will be about $320,000. He works between elections but at election time expands his staff to about 60.

LIFE'S LESSON

I had a tiny little grudge,
I held it close to me
Until it grew a hundred fold,
And fed my misery.
It crowded out that part of me
That charity contained,
And when at last I threw it off,
The scar of it remained.

I had a tiny little grudge,
I threw it far from me.
And filled by mind with better thoughts,
Of love and charity.
And every day was sunny,
And every hour was bright,
I'd learned life's oldest lesson,
Two wrongs don't make a right.

GASOLINE PRICES

The Farmers' Union of Alberta is much concerned over the recent increase of 1½¢ in gasoline prices put into effect by the oil companies last week.

This increase will add materially to the cost of farm operations at a time when the price of most farm products is sharply lower and the trend is definitely downward.

We are not convinced that there is any need for higher gasoline prices in an area such as Alberta where we are producing our own supplies of crude oil. The argument that prices must advance here because of a price increase of crude in the U.S.A., or at Sarnia, sounds like nonsense to us.

We have communicated with the Imperial Oil Co., protesting the increase and asking for a full explanation. At the time of the increase the oil companies apparently considered that the public was not entitled to any explanation.

We have also written the Provincial Cabinet calling their attention to the seriousness of the situation. Since the Provincial Government has the power to fix prices and also full control over our natural resources, we contend that they should take some action to safeguard Alberta gasoline consumers. We are asking for an immediate investigation into gasoline prices followed by action.

When Alberta's resources were developed to the point of making us self-supporting, we were assured ed that we would benefit by lower prices for gasoline. Instead of that, we have had a series of price increases of which last week's is only the latest. Apparently the oil interests think they can get away with murder in this province. It is time to call a halt.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Ambitious Youth Wants To Leave Home And Seek Career Elsewhere

Dear Louisa:

I have just quit school so I can give full time help to my father on the farm. Dad is in poor health and not able to do much heavy work. My step-brother, who is several years older than me, should have done the work but he can't be depended upon and often causes scenes at home and then goes away for long periods.

We all have to work hard, even my younger brothers, but Dad still practically worships his first son even though he frequently leaves home because of family arguments.

My brothers and myself as well as our little sister never have enough clothes to be decently dressed. Mother is worn out from hard work and raising nine children. Dad now says he won't let my step-brother come home but I'm afraid he might. Dad says he'll will everything to his first son. I'd like to get out and earn my own living. What do you think?

—Fed Up.

Answer:

Well, Fed Up, undoubtedly there are a lot of things at home that aggravate you and you are now reaching the age when you could step out and get a job where you can earn your own money, be independent and send money home to your parents.

If you like farm work, I'd strongly recommend you hire yourself out to other farmers in other districts. Learn all you can about farming in other places while at the same time you earn the monthly wages that will make you independent and enable you to buy your own clothes.

If you don't like farm work, you should consult the National Employment Service in Edmonton for job opportunities, particularly where you can learn a trade as an apprentice.

When you are old enough you may be able to join the Canadian Army, Navy or Air Force and make a career for yourself.

When you leave home to seek outside employment, tell your folks where you're going and write home frequently. Your opportunity to make the break would be when your step-brother returns, at which time you can tell your father that as his older son has come back he won't need you. Don't be afraid of going out on your own. Alberta is a big province with plenty of opportunity for a young man like yourself willing to work.

Huge Chemical Plant At Edmonton Starts

EDMONTON, (BUP) — The mammoth Canadian Chemical Company plant, just east of Edmonton produced its first bolt of finished yarn recently and engineers are hard at work ironing out wrinkles and putting all equipment in capacity working order.

Officials say production will increase every day, until the plant's ultimate capacity, 15,000,000 pounds of filament and staple fibre per year, will be reached in about three or four months.

To date, only two of the 10 giant yarn-spinning machines are in operation. About 400 persons are employed, but between 700 and 800 will be working in the plant when full-scale operation is reached.

The chemical plant is an entirely self-contained unit, having its own power plant and pumping plant to take water from the nearby Saskatchewan river. It also has its own fire station, first aid centre, cafeteria, and a 25-man safety crew to prevent accidents.

Even to enter the inner gate with a company engineer, the visitor must sign for a badge. Before entering the yarn building, he must remove all matches from his pockets. "If the stuff ever caught fire, it would blow the plant sky high, an official explained.

The plant will produce scores of chemicals, including synthetic methanol, used as an anti-freeze; propanol, used in brake fluids; calcs. and acetic acid and acetone, used by the plant itself in the manufacture of the synthetic yarn.

"Parade Of Nations" Concert Donates $530 To Cancer Fund

ELK ISLAND—The "Parade of Nations" concert held on July 26th at this beautiful National Park drew a crowd of some five thousand people to the Band Shell area.

Featuring artists and selections from eighteen different nationalities, the concert drew high praise and approval from the large audience.

Though no charge is made at these concerts, sponsored by the National Parks, the National Film Board, and the Central Alberta Bands' Association, held every Sunday, a silver collection is taken and the proceeds are used to defray expenses, and to promote further cultural development among the organizations participating in the concerts during the summer.

The "Parade of Nations" concert just held, however, turned over the full proceeds of their concert to the Canadian Cancer Society. The collection was made by ladies in their colorful national costumes, who carried Cancer Society containers throughout the audience during the program. At the conclusion of the concert, Mr. J. M. Bell, master of ceremonies, called Mr. G. R. A. Rice, president of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, to the platform and presented him with a heavy sack of silver—the proceeds of the collection for the day, which amounted to the substantial sum of five hundred and thirty dollars.

The program was widely varied, with approximately seventy artists participating. These artists represented the distinctive and true Canadian, our Indians and Eskimos, the French-Canadian, the American, the British Isles, Scandinavia, Europe, and the Orient.

The truly Canadian group were represented by Indians and Eskimos from the Charles Camsell hospital in Edmonton, who entertained with a display of art and carving and gave a tribal chant. The French-Canadian Society in their number presented a lively French-Canadian square dance. The three Scandinavian countries were each represented with songs and folk dances of Norway, Denmark and Sweden. The various countries of Europe were represented by respective artists giving truly national numbers. Among these groups were songs of Italy, lively dances from the Ukraine, comic songs of Holland and a national dance of Poland.

The British Isles' contribution featured Highland piping and dancing of Scotland, the well-known and beloved old songs of Ireland, and the crumples of typical English dialects in monologue.

American representation took the form of an American square dance.

The Canadian negro representation took the form of a medley of spirituals.

One of the highlights of the concert was the representation from the Orient—they presented the lovely Japanese Doll Dance.

As can be seen from the program the multitude of nationalities which go to make up Canada can offer to this country a wealth of culture, and the audience showed a fine appreciation of the numbers.

The groups responsible for the arranging of the regular Sunday concerts are deserving of high credit. These groups are the Central Alberta Band Association, the staff of Elk Island National Park, and the National Film Board.

A full day's program is prepared for each Sunday. Various churches hold a service on successive Sundays at 11:00 a.m. During the afternoon there is a concert, either band or choral or variety and in the evening Travelogue films are presented by the National Film Board. The committee responsible for preparing these programs is to be congratulated for their efforts to provide a pleasant day for visitors to one of Canada's finest tourist centres.

OTTAWA AGRICULTURAL OFFICIAL IS APPOINTED GENERAL MANAGER OF EDMONTON FIRM

The Board of Directors of the Edmonton Produce Co. Ltd. have announced the appointment of Mr. A. F. Darnell to the position of General Manager of the company, and subsidiaries.

Mr. Darnell comes to the company with a background of twenty-eight years of service and experience in Government work dealing with both production and marketing phases of poultry and poultry products. His experience includes the production of chicks and turkey poulters, the production and marketing of shell, frozen and dried eggs, also live dressed, eviscerated, and canned poultry products. He was located in Alberta from 1927 to 1936 in the capacity of Poultry Products Inspector, and after service in eastern provinces, including the Maritimes, returned to Alberta in 1943 as officer in charge of the Poultry Products Inspection Service, following which he assumed charge as district inspector in the province of Manitoba, and in 1952 was promoted to associate chief, Agricultural Inspection Service, Ottawa. He resigned this last position to return to more active work in industry.

The new general manager has travelled extensively in Canada and the United States, in the interest of poultry products. He has been a regular platform speaker at producer and trade meetings and conventions. He is well known as a speaker on CBC farm broadcasts.

Mrs. Darnell is a native of Alberta, having been born at Vermilion. The family has just returned from the east to take up residence with their two daughters, Arlene and Sharon, in Edmonton. They will live at 11411

Alberta has come a long way in the poultry business in the past quarter century, Mr. Darnell said, and he went on to say that Alberta producers have the necessary "know how" and "geographical advantages" to develop and maintain a healthy poultry industry. The Edmonton Produce Co. sells Alberta poultry products all over this continent, which includes United States and Mexico, and to far away markets including Vene-

The president of the company, Mr. J. Zipperstein, explained that the company got its start in a very small way in Edmonton twenty-five years ago. Today it serves thousands of Alberta farmers, and maintains large storage plants for poultry products. Branch premises are located at Wetaskiwin, Spruce Grove, Lamont, Bruderheim, Josephburg, St. Paul, Clondonald, Lloydminster, and Redwater.

How To Discourage An Unwelcome Guest

Housewives who have trouble with tiny red mites entering their homes will be glad to know that something can be done about it now. These small mites are actually harmless in the home, but they do cause considerable inconvenience and distress when found swarming over dining or living room walls.

Mites are not insects. They belong to the spider group. DDT and similar compounds have had little effect on them, but relief is now available and can be bought in the form of such commercial preparations as Malathion and Aramite. For peace of mind, action should be taken before mites enter the home.

Dr. C. W. Farstad, officer-in-charge of the Field Crop Insect Laboratory at Lethbridge, says the mite-infested lawns are a source of trouble, particularly lawns that come right up to the house. A cultivated flower or other border between lawn and building is usually sufficient to stop migration of these mites. Known as clover mites, they spend the summer on the clover and grass of the lawn and with the advent of cold weather move in search of shelter. They are too tiny to be kept out of the house with fly screens, and enter readily between the boards and under walls and baseboards.

Once the mites enter the house, little can be done but to keep them swept up with the vacuum cleaner. The best remedy is to keep them out. This can be done by spraying the two or three feet of lawn adjoining the house, and the outside walls to a height of one to two feet, with the mite-killing compound. Keep careful watch on the outside walls from time to time just above ground level. Dr. Farstad advises, if mites are present in quantity, go to work at once with spray gun and chemical. Follow closely the manufacturer's directions.

Mute Saves Girl

Growing Winter Wheat In Southern Alberta

OTTAWA — Many farmers who have had considerable difficulty in planting their spring crops this year are thinking that they should grow more winter wheat. Other farmers who have had their winter wheat crops severely damaged by streak mosaic are wondering if they should turn back to spring crops. The time is approaching when the decision will have to be made, says J. E. Andrews, Cereal Breeding Laboratory Experimental Station, Lethbridge.

There are a number of advantages in growing fall wheat. It allows for a better distribution of farm labour since it is seeded in the fall and is harvested earlier than spring wheat. If adequate growth is obtained, winter wheat will give protection against soil erosion and also will aid in wild oat control. Unless severe winter killing or other damage occurs, it will usually outyield spring wheat.

Heavy losses due to the virus disease streak mosaic are unnecessary. A farmer need only look at the undamaged fields of his neighbours to realize that this disease is not impossible to control. He can grow a crop of winter wheat relatively free of this disease if he takes adequate precautions. Most, if not all, fields of winter wheat in southern Alberta which have been severely infected with streak mosaic have been seeded in August and have had near them a stubble strip containing volunteer diseased wheat as a source of infection. A farmer may reduce losses due to this disease by following two recommendations. First, he should destroy all green, infected wheat near the field he is going to seed. Secondly, he should not seed his winter wheat until after September 1st. Seeding in the first two weeks of September is recommended also for rootrot control and is sufficiently early to give adequate fall growth in most years.

Except for the extreme southwest part of the province, winter killing is the greatest hazard of winter wheat production in Alberta. Much better spring stands are obtained when winter wheat is planted shallow into a firm seed bed than when planted deeply into loose soil. Farmers should avoid seeding deeper than is necessary with consideration to moisture and should endeavour to have a firm seed bed. The variety used is also very important. The most winter-hardy and best varieties of winter wheat available for Alberta are Kharkov 22 M.C. and Yogo. They are about equal in yield. Kharkov has slightly stronger straw, but shows a greater tendency to shatter than Yogo.

Candidates Stump Country

Because radio broadcasting offers candidates an opportunity to address people in their homes, the old-fashioned political meeting has lost some of its popularity and lustre.

Notwithstanding, most, if not all candidates do get out and campaign actively throughout their constituency, and the party leaders and ranking members of the various parties spend a great deal of time and tiring effort travelling from centre to centre to attend meeting and rallies.

It is at these political meetings, some of the best speaking is heard, some of the better promises are made, and some of the most controversial quotes are picked up.

Browsing along the Political Trail we picked up some of the highlights in meetings held recently and they read thusly:

TILLSONBURG, Ont. — State Secretary Pickersgill said he made the move from civil service to government "because the prime minister convinced me I'd be more useful to him in the first place and more useful to the country."

OTTAWA — Defence Minister Claxton said the cease-fire in Korea will result in a reduction of defence expenditures.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. — Canada would be "betraying" her allies if she reduced defence expenditures by 10 per cent at this time, Prime Minister St. Laurent said.

HAMILTON — George Drew indicated his Progressive Conservatives would toughen trade relations with the United States if elected.

VANCOUVER — Associate Defence Minister Ralph Campney said he hoped the matter of war veterans' allowances would be one of the first matters to receive consideration at the next session of parliament.

VICTORIA — Trade Minister C. D. Howe said "I think this will be my last election" and that "I want to make sure the Liberal party is strong when I leave it."

VANCOUVER — Ralph Campney associate minister of defence, said he believes the federal health program will lead eventually to a national health insurance plan.

EDMONTON — Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC, says the Progressive Conservatives can cut the cost of Canada's armed forces by at least 10 per cent.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. — Prime Minister St. Laurent said that entertainment in Rome cost Canada $2,980, and not $35,000 as claimed by the Progressive Conservatives.

OTTAWA — Defence Minister Claxton said Canada is the only country which has ever fought a war, balanced the budget, reduced the national debt and cut taxes—all at the same time.

NIAGARA FALLS — George Drew, PC leader, said recent action of the U.S. government in reducing military appropriations supports his proposal that taxes in Canada can be cut $500,000,000 a year.

KIMBERLEY, B.C. — M. J. Coldwell says that if the CCF takes power it will introduce a national labor code establishing maximum hours of work and minimum wages.

YARMOUTH, N.S. — Donald Fleming, PC member for Toronto Eglinton in the last Parliament, said that a vote for the government would be a vote for a "pig in a poke."

HATS IN THE RING

NEXT MONDAY, Canadian electors will go to the polls to cast their ballots in favor of their preferred candidate. Approximately 900 hopeful candidates' names are on the ballots, all seeking the right to one of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. Pictured are the leaders of the four major political parties seeking power to form the government.

CANADA'S CAPITOL

RECOGNIZED AS ONE of the leading Capitol buildings of the world, the Canadian House of Commons, topped by the striking Peace Tower is the aim and hope of 900 candidates in the forthcoming election August 10.

Social Credit — Mr. Solon Low

Liberal — The Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent

PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT who took over the reins of government from the late W. L. Mackenzie King looks forward with confidence to another term in office, as Canada's first minister.

Prog. Cons. — The Hon. George Drew

LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION in the last House, Mr. Drew has waged a vigorous campaign against the Liberal policies of the government. His party look forward to an increase in their numbers in the House.

C.C.F. — Mr. M. J. Coldwell

C.C.F. CANDIDATES and their follows pin their hopes on Mr. Coldwell, a capable debater and strong opponent of Liberal policies.

Grow Two Wheat Crops A Year

Canadian C.T. 186 wheat harvested in Southern California in April was seeded in Prairie wheat fields in May. This reduces by a year the time normally required to bring a new variety into production on a commercial scale.

Sufficient seed of C.T. 186, the new variety resistant to the 15B strain of wheat rust, was shipped to California and Arizona last fall to plant 150 acres. Seeded in October on irrigated land in the warmer climate of these Southern states, the new wheat gave good yields and produced enough seed to permit nearly 3,000 acres to be sown in Western Canada this spring.

The new variety is being multiplied this summer on Government land and by seed growers who have signed a contract to deliver the seed produced to the Department of Agriculture. Part of the Government land will be irrigated. The fields are well distributed to avoid failure in any one area. If a normal crop is harvested this fall sufficient seed will be on hand for most farmers in the rust area to get started with this new variety in 1954. This should prove to be a safeguard against future outbreaks of 15B.

Dr. C. H. Goulden, Chief of the Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, is hopeful this saving in time will enable wheat growers to meet the threat that was posed by the 15B strain of wheat rust when previous rust-resistant varieties proved susceptible to it.

If conditions favorable to a widespread outbreak of rust should occur in the next few years, multiplication of the small quantity of C.T. 186 seed on hand last fall will have been a valuable precaution. The same method may again prove useful should additional new races of rust develop to which existing wheat varieties, including C.T. 186 are not resistant.

Wrong Place

Fayetteville, Ga. — Four Negroes were recently arrested and charged with operating three 1,000-gallon stills on—of all places—the farm of State Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine, chief liquor law enforcement officer for Georgia.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont.—Prime Minister St. Laurent says the Progressive Conservative promise of reduced taxes and increased social benefits is an "insult to the intelligence of the Canadian people."

Perennial Flowers For Western Prairies

OTTAWA—The list of perennial flowers which are hardy enough for general planting on the open prairies of Western Canada is not as lengthy as for many areas with higher rainfall and milder winters. There are, however, a considerable number which are hardy under most conditions and numerous others which can be grown in sheltered locations provided they are given some winter protection.

Many of the better class perennial flowers are winter hardy so far as low temperature is concerned, but are unable to withstand the alternate freezing and thawing which occurs during February and March, particularly during winters with little or no snow fall.

The exposure of the border has a definite influence upon winter survival. Borders with an Eastern or Northern exposure are preferred over those with a Southern or Western. Winter survival can be improved considerably by the use of a good covering of brush over the border throughout the winter. This covering should be put in place until after freeze-up and should not be removed until growth has commenced in the spring.

Lists of recommended kinds and varieties are available from the nearest Experimental Station and University. These should be consulted when ordering nursery stock.

AUGUST 10 IS VOTING DATE—HERE'S HOW IT WAS CHOSEN

By PETER GABLE

Why did Prime Minister St. Laurent choose Aug. 10 as the date for the next federal general election?

Conservative Leader George Drew has accused him of going into "a panic over the frequency, with which new evidence of folly and extravagance comes to light," and of wilfully disenfranchising large numbers of vacationing voters.

Other Opposition candidates have criticized the date, apparently trying to make it an issue in the campaign.

Mr. St. Laurent gave a carefully worded and documented reason for his decision at the press conference which he held on the day the date was announced.

The answer to Mr. Drew's accusation is that no other date could have been chosen by the government without depriving many people of their right to vote.

The rigid timetable laid down in the Canada Elections Act precluded any other date—including Aug. 17—unless the government was willing to hold a campaign during the coronation festivities or next winter.

Here's how the Election Act schedule made Aug. 10 the only possible date this year:

Mr. St. Laurent wanted to assure as wide and fair an enumeration as possible and to give all adult Canadians full opportunity to be on the voters' lists. This meant taking the enumeration in some months other than July and August, when many people are away from their homes.

Section 17 of the Elections Act requires that enumeration begin on the 49th day before election day. If Aug. 17 has been chosen, enumerators would have started to work on Monday, June 29. They would have been interrupted by the Dominion Day national holiday and their work would have carried over into July the enumeration takes six days).

That ruled out Aug. 17. The coronation, and Mr. St. Laurent's determination not to inflict a political campaign on the country

Harrold Elected Vice-Chairman

Gordon L. Harrold of Lamont was elected vice-chairman at the latest meeting of the Alberta Wheat Pool directors. He succeeds A. T. Baker, recently appointed manager of the organization.

Mr. Harrold represents the Vegreville division on the Wheat Pool board of directors. He farms 670 acres of land in the Lamont district, being part of his father's original holdings. His father was born in the Orkney Islands, came to Ontario in 1891 and to Alberta in 1905, settling in the Lamont district where Gordon was born.

The new vice-chairman was elected an Alberta Wheat Pool delegate in 1942 and director in 1943.

FARM WOMEN OF WORLD NOT RURALLY MINDED

TORONTO—Canadians inclined to envisage farmers' wives as somewhat retiring ladies, with conversation limited to the current market price of butter and eggs, are due for a severe shock in August, when rural women the world over gather at Toronto's Royal York hotel for the Seventh Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World. Reservations flowing into the offices of the hostess groups indicate that while visitors will be able to discuss market prices fluently, they will have a lot more varied and interesting topics of conversation.

Commonwealth Nominees

Nominees for the office of president are all Commonwealth women. They include Lady Coomaraswamy of Ceylon, wife of the High Commissioner in London and a World Council member of the Y.W.C.A. in India, Burma and Ceylon; Mrs. Alice M. Berry, an Australian Justice of the Peace, who successfully raised two daughters on an isolated sheep station in New South Wales; Lady Wilson, wife of a pioneer dairy farmer near Nairobi in Kenya whose hobby is breeding Arab horses; Miss Amy G. Kane, OBE, retired New Zealand journalist and official of the Pan-Pacific Women's International Association, and Lady Worsley-Taylor, also a Justice of the Peace, farming 1,600 English acres in cattle and sheep.

Other club activities of these five women read like an inventory of government agencies, welfare organizations and women's associations on all levels. Not one limits her activities to fewer than three groups. They also work among new citizens, and do post-graduate work at universities. Color photography of wild animals, journalism, embroidery and horticulture are a few of their interests.

Outstanding among their interests is travel. Most delegates have attended past ACWW conferences in Washington, Amsterdam, London and Copenhagen.

SIMCOE, Ont. — George Drew said a Progressive Conservative government will tell the United States it must abide by international trade agreements or Canada will not.

HEALTH UNIT NOTES

From the Sanitary Inspector's Diary

This week I am going to say something about the house fly.

The house fly has a world wide distribution living in close association with man. As soon as the weather gets mild the female begins to lay large numbers of eggs; and her favourite site for depositing these eggs are accumulations of fermenting vegetable matter, fresh horse manure, pig manure, and human waste.

The eggs soon hatch out and the familiar maggots appear feeding vigorously on this waste matter and when fully grown, they burrow into the soil and pupate. In a few days the adult fly emerges. The entire life cycle from egg to adult may take less than seven days when conditions are favourable.

The life of an adult fly may be as long as six weeks and so one adult female fly may lay sufficient eggs to produce a million offspring.

The danger arising from this insect are due to his promiscuous feeding habits. After busily feeding on manure piles, or the contents of garbage cans, or pit toilets or neglected nuisance grounds; he may then decide to visit your home or local food store and he will sample any food which has been left conveniently exposed.

Do flies spread disease? YES.

The most notable being Typhoid and Para-Typhoid, Dysentery, Epidemic Diarrhoea, and possibly Cholera, Tuberculosis, Eye Infections, and Poliomyelitis.

How do they convey these diseases to man?

They vomit and excrete on everything on which they alight; in addition, when feeding on solid material, they attempt to soften it by means of vomit and saliva.

The excreta of flies may also be dangerous.

Flies also carry particles of manure and disease organisms on their hairy bodies and legs.

Can anything be done to prevent outbreaks of fly-borne disease? Yes.

The following recommendations will reduce the possibility of such outbreaks.

1. Elimination of fly breeding grounds. In Towns and Villages where there are water and sewer services available pit and pail toilets should be done away with as soon as possible. The people in the country who have no alternative but to use pit toilets should site them at least 30 feet from the house; the ground should be well packed around the base of the structure to prevent the entrance of flies. All ventilation openings should be properly screened, and the door fit tightly. A very simple and effective measure to prevent fly breeding and mask odours is to pour down into the pit toilet a quantity of waste oil. Not gasoline. Spray the toilet with a 5% D.D.T.

2. Proper storage of garbage. Residents of Towns, Villages, and Hamlets should keep all garbage likely to attract flies in proper garbage cans having fly proof lids. For people living on farms the best method is to dig a pit, not too close to the house and dump your garbage into it. Cover garbage with 2 feet of soil immediately afterwards.

3. Keep all unnecessary animals out of Towns, Villages, and Hamlets. Where horses have to be kept in such places the manure should be kept in containers similar to those recommended for garbage.

4. Nuisance Grounds should be kept in a proper Sanitary Condition.

5. The use of Swatters and Insecticides. "Swat that Fly" should be the motto. A 5% D.D.T. can be sprayed around doors and windows. Do not spray when food is exposed; and do not inhale insecticides.

6. Proper Storage and Protection of Food. Keep door and window screens in good repair. Wash all fruit and vegetables before use. Keep all food covered.

News Oddities

Too Busy; Gets Fined

Dallas, Texas — Benjamin J. Selbel, 59-year-old accountant and tax specialist from Gainesville, Texas, was fined $1,000 and put on probation in Federal Court on a charge of failure to file income-tax returns from 1946 to 1950. The defendant pleaded no contest — he said he had been too busy working on other persons' returns to file his own.

Lucky Strike Under Office

Bakersfield, Calif. — The Western Gulf Oil Company located a pool of oil directly under a wing of the firm's home office at Fruitvale, Cal. A rig, set up beside the building and dug at an angle, is producing more than 100 barrels a day.

Baby Dies In Crib

Randallstown, Md. — When John Allen Mitchell, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mitchell, got caught in the safety belt on his crib and rolled off the bed, his neck was broken and he was dead, when discovered.

Condors Reported To Be Dying Out

San Diego, Cal. — The last of North America's greatest birds, the California condors, are reported to be dying out from slow starvation. Lewis Wayne Walker, a naturalist, declared their only hope of survival was in captivity or by artificial feeding in their 235,000-acre preserve in the mountains north of Los Angeles. Condors, despite their great size, do not kill and in natural state must depend for food upon carrion, left by animals of prey or hunters.

Anglers Land Lost Wallet

Champaign, Ill. — Two schoolboys, fishing to recover a ball they had dropped into a creek, recovered, instead, a billfold that had been lost three weeks earlier in a heavy rainstorm. It contained $82—wet but intact, which belonged to a University of Illinois student, who said it slipped from his hands into a drain during a storm and got away before he could recover it.

Wrong House Re-Roofed

Chicago, Ill. — Workmen were putting the finishing touches on a new roof on a house at 1415 N. Paulina Street, when Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kniebusch returned home and asked, "How come?" The embarrassed foreman pulled out his work order and found the re-roofing job was for a house at 1514 N. Paulina. The Kniebuschs insisted they preferred their old blue roof to the new green one and wouldn't pay. Their attorney told them the new roof cannot be removed by the company.

Lighter Fuel Catches Fire

Baltimore, Md. — A leaking can of lighter fluid in the pocket of Carl Bawgus, 19, brought first and second degree burns to the youth. Stopping to light a cigarette, the fuel caught fire, setting his clothing ablaze.

News From Other Alberta Towns

Civic And Clerical Dignitaries To Attend St. Emile Anniversary

LEGAL—It is anticipated, provided the weatherman co-operates, that Legal will be one of the busiest villages in the province on August 6, when the village and district will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Parish of St. Emile.

In addition to many people from surrounding parishes, and a goodly number of former parishioners, a host of dignitaries are expected to attend.

Among those invited to participate in the lengthy and varied program are His Grace Archbishop MacDonald of Edmonton, the Honorable Lucien Maynard, Attorney-General of Alberta, Mayor Hawrelak of Edmonton, and Jean-Paul St. Laurent, son of the late Minister Louis St. Laurent. These are but a few of the ranking members of the clergy and government who are expected to be in attendance.

Last Rites For Colinton Resident

COLINTON — Funeral services for Mr. Adolph John Bretzlaff, who passed away in Edmonton on July 11 at the age of 72 years were held in the United Church, Colinton on Tuesday, July 14 at 2:00 p.m. Rev. Appelt of the Lutherap Church, Edmonton, officiated and interment was made in the Colinton Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Messrs. E. Schafrick, Paul Kugelstadt, F. Hagen, Harold Wiltse, Orval Wight and John Drozdak.

Athabasca Fair Slated August 6 Draws Large Number Of Entries

ATHABASCA—Proof of the growing interest in agricultural services throughout the Municipal District of Athabasca, is the increasing importance attached to the fairs and exhibits sponsored by the Athabasca and District Agricultural Society.

The fair, slated for August 6, will be the first of its kind. This fair will be the merging of the annual stock show and the annual bench show. The stock show was usually held in Athabasca, while the bench show has alternated between Meanook and Perryvale.

Though the executive of the Agricultural Society desired to hold the various sections of the fair at the different centres, the disadvantages of such a policy were such as to limit the amount of interest of the various exhibitors. With the trend to larger fairs throughout the country, the system now proposed should attract the whole family, for there are classes of exhibits for every member of the family. Exhibits will be entered in classes for stock, farm produce, such as vegetables, there will be a flower exhibit, a handicraft display, and certain provincial and dominion government departments will be presenting displays. One display, sure to be of interest, will be "Machinery Row," which will feature all the latest and best in farm equipment.

The Stock Show, which has drawn a great deal of interest from outside the Municipal District, has grown tremendously in importance and this year's show is slated to be even more outstanding with some of Northern Alberta's top breeders exhibiting. Some of the stock entries will be made by Shopland and Son, of Rochester, who will exhibit among their animals the bull they purchased in Eastern Canada at $2,000.

Garfield Ivey and Son of Ells-cott will most certainly enter the young bull they purchased from the Namao farm of the Hon. David Ure. Parson Brothers of Boyle, Wilfred Flack and Son of Colinton, and Ehre and Son of Athabasca are just a few of the excellent recognized breeders who will be represented.

Judging the cattle will be Mr. H. Buyars, a farmer and secretary of the Northern Alberta Shorthorn Club who will judge the Shorthorns; Mr. S. Lore, District Agriculturist of Athabasca who will judge the Hereford and Aberdeen Angus; and Mr. J. Kerns, District Agriculturist and instructor in livestock and farm management at the Vermilion School of Agriculture.

The judges in the ladies' sections of the fair will be in the competent hands of Misses McCutcheon and McIntyre of the Vermilion School of Agriculture.

Activities at the fair will get underway early. Judging will begin at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, and for this reason all are asked to turn out early.

Rash Of Accidents At Briereville

BRIEREVILLE—Last Wednesday was a day for accidents. Mr. Gordon Anderson and Mr. Emile Desjarlais were on their way to town in Gordon's new truck when they hit some muddy road. Gordon lost control of the wheel and they landed in the ditch. The truck was badly damaged. Mr. Anderson got shaken up and Mr. Desjarlais received a fractured shoulder. They had 7 lambs in the back of the truck that didn't even mind the crash. Also on the same day, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lyons and Mr. Jimmie Whelen went to Vilela, where they were involved in an accident. Their car was badly damaged.

Another (could have been an accident) happened when Mrs. Herbert Thompson was mowing alfalfa. One of the driving lines broke and her team started to run. She kept them in check by keeping them turning in a circle till her husband arrived on the scene to catch them as they came around. She said she took the mower out of gear just in case of a smash up. All these accidents happened on Wednesday, July 15.

The following day, Norman Whitford's truck almost burned up. Norman wasn't home and his mother, Mrs. John A. Whitford was walking past the garage when she noticed smoke in the garage. She went in and noticed how smoky it was in the cab. So she opened the door and there to her amazement was the seat on fire. She called for help and with some water they smothered some of the fire till they could get the seat out of the truck and put out the fire. It took some time to get the fire out as it was burning in the padding of the seat. It is not known how the fire started.

TAX CUTS HELP THOSE ABLE TO PAY; FORGET UNDERPRIVILEGED

By PETER GABLE

Two angles of the tax problem are rarely explored by politicians who glibly promise to knock half a billion dollars off collections in a year and others who argue that such cuts are impossible.

One angle concerns who benefits by a tax reduction. The other concerns the longer-term effects of tax cuts not matched by equal cuts in spending.

It must be obvious that if taxes are cut the people who benefit are those who pay taxes and especially those who pay the most. It is just not possible to cut taxes on people who do not pay taxes.

Mr. Donald Fleming of Toronto estimates the Conservative plan to reduce taxes by half a billion dollars would amount to $170 for every family. It might if one averages up the big cuts which would come to wealthy families and the small cuts which would come to average families and the very small cuts at all which would come to below average families.

It could not possibly mean that every family would have $170 more to spend on a radio or TV set, a new coat for mother or a trip to the Canadian National Exhibition.

Taxes are paid in a lot of ways but it is the big income people and the big corporations which pay most. Mr. Coldwell, the CCF leader, would make these people pay more. Mr. Fleming and Mr. Drew would make them pay less.

According to the census the great bulk of the heads of families on wages and salaries are in the income group between $2,000 and $3,000. The average is about $2,400. On those incomes heads of families pay little income tax and none at all where there are three or more children. What they pay on sales and excise taxes depends on what they buy but they do not buy as much as those with bigger incomes. So tax cuts which average out at $170 per family are bound to be a lot bigger than $170 for a few people, a lot smaller for the great majority.

All families, but especially the medium and small income families are bound to be affected by the consequences of tax reductions. All have a stake in Canada. All will have to pay for what they get in defence and in welfare services.

Of Canada's total budget $2,000,000 goes on National Defence. No party promises to reduce that. Some say economies can be made by cutting out waste and extravagance. But Canada is in a great defence partnership with the United States, Britain, France and other countries. At $2,000,000 Canadians are spending a slightly lesser proportion of their national income on defence than the other partners. If economies are possible most Canadians and any responsible Canadian government would want to see Canada pay its fair share, provide more defence with the money saved.

Another billion goes out in payments to Canadian citizens, old age pensions, family allowances, veterans' pensions. No party promises to cut those. The Conservative party promises to pay more in family allowances by taking care of children up to the age of 18.

Interest on the public debt comes to $468 million a year. No one suggests the government should let the bondholders down by welching on its agreements. Payments of grants and subsidies to the provincial governments come to $328 million a year. Any cuts in those would force the provincial governments to raise their own taxes.

Putting these irreducible items together you get $3,796 million out of a total planned expenditure of $4,462 million this year. And the way taxes are now coming in it appears revenue will just about equal expenditures. There is no surplus in sight. There remains less than $700 million on which reductions could be made.

That $700 million goes to pay the Civil Service, to pay Members of Parliament, to pay all the official wages, salaries and expenses of government other than in the defence department. A cut of $500 million off this $700 million would mean government would close up or a lot of average family men would have to work for nothing.

There are other ways of absorbing a tax cut besides a reduction in expenses. The government can go into debt, as it did during World War Two during which the debt rose from $3 billion to a peak of $13.5 billion.

But the more debt the more interest to pay. Since the end of the war the government has reduced the debt by about $2.5 billion, thus cutting annual interest charges by $75 million.

Within the term of the next parliament the first of the big long-term war loans, extensively held by the average Canadian, become due. In 1954 the government has to find more than a billion dollars to pay off bondholders, about the same in 1956 and about the same in 1957, more than three billion dollars altogether.

The average Canadian must be interested in whether that money is found out of current revenues or by new borrowing. Interest rates are going up. If new bonds are sold the debt charges will go up. If by borrowing to pay off the debt and borrowing more because taxes are cut below operating expenses the government adds to its overall interest charges, the average Canadian may find himself paying less taxes for one year but a lot more in later years.

A glance at what is happening in the United States shows what sensible governments usually do notwithstanding the enthusiastic promises of some of their supporters. The United States government has been operating in the red, going deeper into debt. A lot of people expected tax cuts from the new government. Tax cuts are not forthcoming. The government says it must balance the budget first. It looks as if the average American agrees. Does the average Canadian want the Canadian budget unbalanced?

Glut Of Hay In Alberta Sends Prices Tumbling

The biggest harvest of hay for many years, now being cut in Southern Alberta, has resulted in a glut which is bringing prices tumbling.

Calgary dealers cannot even find customers in the drought area of Texas for the rock-bottom price of $1 a ton baled off the field.

They are at a loss to understand why the Texan cattlemen have displayed no interest in the Alberta hay crop and have assumed they haven't even the cash to buy a few tons to keep their cattle alive.

One Calgary dealer said he believed the U.S. authorities were so suspicious of foot-and-mouth disease—imports of hay were banned last year from Central Ontario westward—they were not encouraging the movement of hay this year.

Three years ago the Alberta crop was fetching up to $80 a ton off the field. After the wet spring weather this year there is enough surplus hay to supply the whole of Texas.

Arthur T. Chesson, manager of Fairplay Feed Co., in Calgary, said the harvest started during the hot weather of Stampede week and already he could not find a market for 500 tons and was even contemplating sending a wire to the Governor of Texas.

Several cattlemen from Southern Alberta are understood to have journeyed into the drought area of Texas to buy cattle at five cents a pound and ship them into Canada.

There has already been a big movement of cattle from the blighted state into western states. Repercussions from the slump in Texas are already making themselves felt in other markets. Prices at Chicago fell up to $2.50 a hundred pounds Thursday, while at Calgary medium quality cattle were hard to move though top quality remained at $18 to $19.50.

Dining Car Meals "Moderately Priced"

A transcontinental rail journey affords thrills where one finds "rest, relaxation, and deep enjoyment, particularly on a train like the Continental Limited," Leavitt F. Morris says in a feature article in the internationally-known and widely-read Christian Science Monitor. In describing his trip from Montreal to Jasper, Morris says, "True, the Canadian National hasn't yet caught up with the railroads in the U.S. as far as new equipment is concerned but they have 400 cars on order right now, the most desperately needed being sleeping cars, such as roomettes and bedroom cars. However, the courtesy of the personnel, the romance of big-time railroading, and the adventure of passing through areas of sheer wilderness make up for the lack of abundance of modern accommodations. And too, the meals on this train have been outstanding as well as moderately priced. I might point out here that Canada can boast of the only transcontinental railroad service in North America. The U.S. has no such railroad, the east-west journey being broken at Chicago even notwithstanding the fact that one or two lines do run a few cars through from New York.

Isoniazid, the year-old drug in the treatment of tuberculosis, is now on the market in large quantities and at low cost.

"I'd like to say this to all Canadians..."

UNDER a Liberal government, Canadians have added every year to the national strength and national unity of Canada;

We have had the greatest expansion of social welfare in our history;

We have increased our employment, our production and our national income every year;

We have had the greatest expansion of our primary and secondary industries — truly an industrial revolution;

Because of the outstanding contribution of the members of our Navy, Army and Air Force, we have been able to do our full share to prevent and to stop Communist aggression;

We have reduced the national debt every year, and, in the last two years, reaped the reward in lower tax rates.

Do we want all that to be continued?

Do you really think it's time for a change?

For a change to a Parliament of regional groups — a handful of Social Crediters from the Far West, a few Socialists from the Prairies, a few more Conservatives from Ontario or the Maritimes and some so-called Independents from Quebec?

In such a Parliament without the leadership and responsibility of a united national party, how could the government help being weak and insecure?

Do we want a weak and divided government to deal with the formidable problems of the next few years? I ask you, IS it really time for a change?

We believe most Canadians want a government which encourages enterprise, promotes trade and fosters the exploration and development of our resources; and you know it as well as we do, that requires balanced budgets, paying off debts in prosperous times and a tax structure which, while fair to all, is adequate to meet these demands.
